

THE SOCIETY FOR MEDIEVAL AND RENAISSANCE PHILOSOPHY

newsletter

number 51, fall 2005

From the Editor:

Help Wanted – As my term as newsletter editor expires at the end of 2006, the SMRP Executive has asked me to solicit nominations for a new editor. I cannot serve another term myself because of administrative duties I have taken on during the past year.

The job is certainly not onerous as far as micropublishing goes, but it does help to have online access to libraries, databases, websites, and other sources of information about the field. There are postage and handling costs associated with the 70 or so newsletters still sent by U.S. mail, but the Society will be able to help you with this if your home institution is not. The newsletter is published twice a year, in the spring (appearing between April and June) and fall (between September and November).

Please send your nominations (including self-nominations) to me or to our President, R. James Long: rjlong@mail.fairfield.edu. I will of course be happy to answer any questions you might have about the position.

Please take a moment now to pay your 2006 dues using the form on the last page of this newsletter. As you know, we try to keep costs as low as we can,* but we still need income to cover postage and other operating expenses, as well as to support activities such as the Monograph Program and Younger Scholar Award.

Finally, check out our new website, now housed at Cornell University thanks to the good work of Scott MacDonald: <http://www.smrphil.org/index.html>

With my best wishes for a happy Thanksgiving and joyful holiday period,

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Marquette University Mid-West Seminar on Ancient and Medieval Philosophy invites applications for the presentation of a paper in Ancient or Medieval Philosophy at a meeting of the Seminar on Thursday, March 30, 2006. (Due to a very active spring term in the Marquette Philosophy Department, at present it appears that the seminar will have to be scheduled for March 30, 2006.) For the Winter/Spring term there will be one award.

The presenter will be reimbursed up to $500 maximum for travel, room and board expenses only. In most cases this amount will cover all expenses for presenters from North America although applications from elsewhere are welcome. Past participants have come from the US, Canada, England, Israel, Italy and Finland.

Deadline: December 1, 2005. Decision by December 20.

The presenter, as well as any visiting scholar, is welcome to make use of Marquette University's Library which houses one of the finest collections of philosophical materials on Ancient and Medieval thought in the Mid-West. Available electronic resources include: Patrologia Latina; CETEDOC; Thesaurus Linguae Graecae; Past Masters; International Medieval Bibliography; Index Thomisticus; Philosophers' Index; Index Islamicus; Encyclopaedia of Islam; Encyclopaedia Judaica, and many others. See http://www.marquette.edu/library/research/mulib/public_html/search_results.php?disciplineID=50

Marquette University Faculty

Participants: Owen Goldin (Ancient), Susanne Foster (Ancient, Ethics), John Jones (Medieval Social Thought, Neoplatonism), James South (Late Medieval & Renaissance), Andrew Tallon (NeoThomism, phenomenology), Richard C. Taylor (Medieval Latin & Arabic), Roland Teske, S.J., (Medieval, Augustine, Philosophy of Religion), David Twetten (Medieval, Aquinas) and others from Marquette and other regional universities.

Application Procedure

Send a précis of the proposed presentation with cover letter and cv. Applications from advanced graduate students are welcome but must include a letter of support from the student's dissertation director.

NOTE: E-mail applications are preferred.

HOPOS 2006 CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Society for the History of Philosophy of Science (HOPOS) will hold its sixth international congress in Paris, France, in cooperation with the Société de Philosophie des Sciences (SPS).

Date: June 14-18, 2006

Location: École normale supérieure, Paris

Conference languages: English and French

The Congress invites contributions to the history of philosophy of science from all time periods and from all scholarly approaches.

Submission guidelines

(1) Symposia: 3-4 papers, each 30 minutes (including 10 minutes discussion) on a given theme.

(2) Individual papers: 20 minutes plus 10 minutes discussion.

The Program Committee will decide on acceptance of proposals for symposia and individual papers, and assign the place of individual papers within the program. Proposals may be submitted in English or French and must reach the Program Committee by December 15, 2005 at the latest. Submissions should be sent via email (rtf or word format), with "HOPOS Submission" in the "Subject" line, to Jean Gayon gayon@noos.fr or Doug Jesseph doug_jesseph@ncsu.edu. If email is not possible, please direct submissions by regular post to: Société de philosophie des sciences (SPS), 45 rue d'Ulm, 75005 Paris, France. Notification of acceptance will be provided by the Program Committee by February 15, 2006.

Proposals for symposia should include:

- title of symposium
- symposium summary statement (maximum 500 words)
- abstracts (maximum 500 words for each paper)
- address of each participant including email, phone and institution
- identification of symposium organizer, who will serve as contact with the Program Committee

Proposals for individual papers should include:

- title and abstract of the paper (maximum 500 words)

- address of the participant including email, phone and institution

Registration and further information

Details regarding registration, housing, etc. will be provided at a later date on the HOPOS 2006 conference website, at <http://www.sps.ens.fr/activites/hopos2006/indexhopos.html>.
