Medieval Philosophy at the Saint Louis Annual Symposium for Medieval and Renaissance Studies (June 17-19, 2019)

Organizers:

Susan Brower-Toland (susan.browertoland@slu.edu)
Jenny Pelletier (jenny.pelletier@kuleuven.be)

Every year, the Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies at Saint Louis University (<https://www.slu.edu/arts-and-sciences/medieval-renaissance-studies/index.php>) hosts a symposium on medieval and Renaissance studies. The seventh symposium will take place next June 17-19, 2019. As with other large, inter-disciplinary conferences of this kind, there is ample room to expand the representation of philosophy. Moreover, the symposium provides historians of philosophy the opportunity to see what research is being conducted in other areas, e.g. medieval and Renaissance intellectual history, art history, literature, etc.

We would like to organize two sessions, broad thematically, devoted to philosophy and philosophical theology.

Proposed Sessions:

1. Medieval Philosophy: Metaphysical Themes
2. Medieval Philosophy: Ethical Themes

We welcome abstracts on any topic and any philosopher that falls within these two areas, extending into the Renaissance and late Scholasticism. Please submit abstracts of about 200 words and include a short CV.

Deadline for abstracts: November 30, 2018

Notification date: December 15, 2018
